

"We Want Change!

By Hamid al-Ali

"The American nation asked for change and got it, after it saw with its own eyes how a group of authoritarian leaders driven by blind discrimination, ignorance, and stupidity transformed everything they had into rubble. The American economy is destroyed and liberal ideology has been crucified because of them. The reputation of American values is tarnished, their foreign policy is a failure, and American leadership of the world has officially ended.

"A right-wing Zionist gang and neo-conservative garbage led America to shame. The term of their presidency was the worst period in the history of the United States of America. Their only good trait was their ability to prove that the materialism of advanced and strong nations turns against them when in the hands of blind and unjust people. Then, not even their intelligence, the experience of their consultants, or the wisdom of their most experienced can save them.

"What is weird about how God makes things work and the example He sets is that this group of ignorant people wanted to have the world worship them. God, however, sent them a person they deeply despise and hate because of his color and his African roots and placed all of them under his command. They also wanted to rob the world, but their economy collapsed. They wanted to terrorize the world, but they all live in fear. They wanted to defeat our nation, but created the desire to win and the spirit to rise.

"It is only right to admit that this nation was able to rise up, change its bitter reality, and ask for change. This nation refused to remain behind those who tried to mislead it, the same way sheep walk behind their butcher. We have to wonder how Obama was not deterred by his race, color, or roots, and was able to convince his nation of his ability to change. His race did not effect American confidence in him he and was eventually elected as their president. They realized that the greatest necessities to rise up, and the means to a successful change, are getting rid of discrimination and classism.

"Our nation should try to benefit from this example and request change as well, in order to rid itself of systems led by ignorance and domination. They rob the country, enslave its citizens, lead it to destruction, and bring dishonor and shame to it. What is truly weird is the fact that our citizens witness all these examples of how people from all over the world revolt against corrupt power and aim for a better change until they achieve it, while our people stand still with their mouths wide open, unable to change their miserable situation! We mentioned several times in the past that the reasons behind this were the corruption of the political infrastructure, the malicious role of scholars, the betrayal of the educated, and the ignorance of people.

"We say this while we confess to the accomplishment of the American nation in creating this change, knowing that we do not expect much from it, except ridding the world of the gang that controlled the White House and owned the most powerful military force in history that filled the world with injustice and oppression. Bush and his gang are finished, and with them go their hearts that are full of hatred and sick discrimination, and their programs that had the stench of ignorance. We ask God to send away their stupid policies and the hatred they spread throughout the world with them.

"They left and were (thank God) unable to defeat this nation. They were unable to accomplish anything the devil encouraged them to do. Instead, they fell a terrible fall and did not accomplish anything but destruction and death. The American media will be busy exposing many more scandals of this group that have not been published yet. Their disgraces will be publicly displayed, and it is very possible they will be pursued by legal actions.

"In the future, regarding our nation, it is expected to witness more but limited openness in some things. As for the long run, the only scene we have is a multi-polar world that will announce (God willing) more blessed steps in the rise of our glorious nation. But regardless of how many steps we take, we will never reach the required change unless we spread awareness in our nation; including political rights and the right to change the system if it tampers with the message of the nation and its values. Then we would give our nation the ability to use these rights in order to retrieve its position that it lost, due to the corruption of the political systems that control it. We ask for the day that our eyes can testify to that, and we will rely on God."
